

Book Launch

Thursday 17 November 2016 6pm

Small Committee Room K0.31

King's Building, Strand Campus

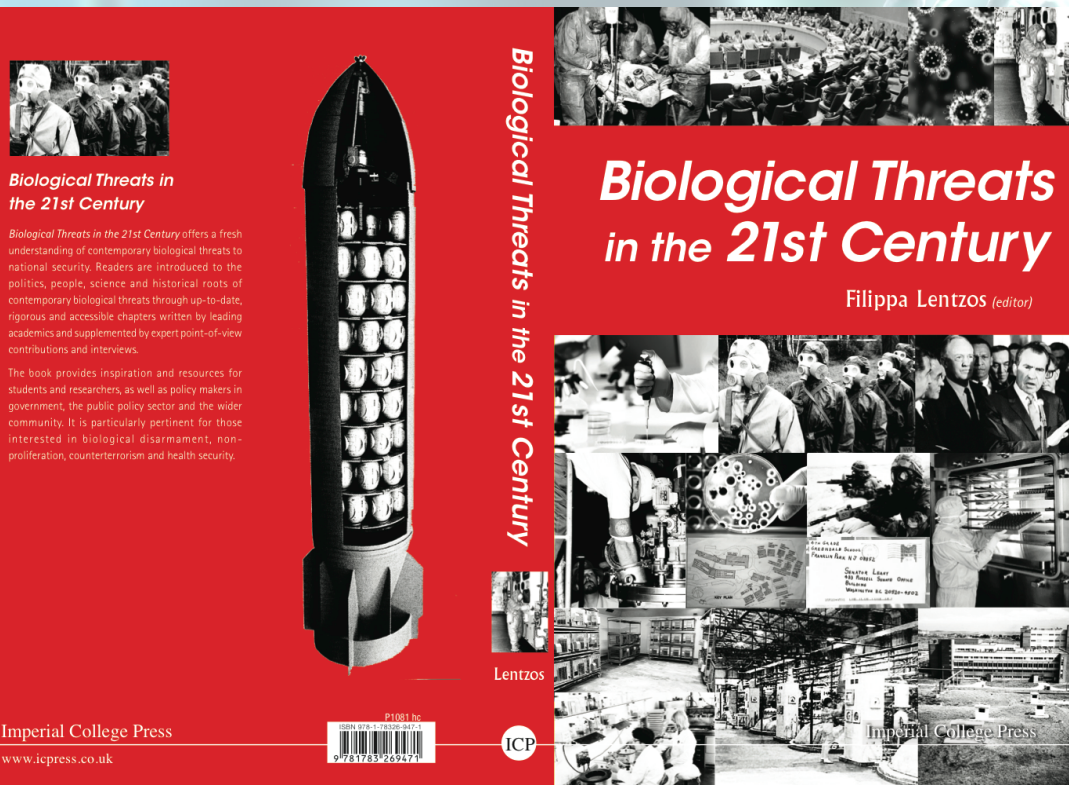

King's College London

Welcome by Susan Martin Centre for Science & Security Studies and the Department of War Studies, King's College London

Introduction by Book Editor Filippa Lentzos Department of Global Health & Social Medicine, King's College London

Book Author Panel Discussion on the role of scientists in bioweapons non-proliferation and disarmament, featuring:

- ♦ Brian Balmer Department of Science & Technology Studies, University College London
- ♦ Steven Rose Department of Life Health & Chemical Sciences, The Open University
- ♦ Nicholas Sims Department of International Relations, London School of Economics
- ♦ Caitriona McLeish Science Policy Research Unit, University of Sussex

Biological Threats in the 21st Century introduces readers to the politics, people, science and historical roots of contemporary biological threats through rigorous and accessible chapters written by leading scholars and supplemented by expert point-of-view contributions and interviews.

The book launch will be followed by a reception
Please RSVP to philippa.aitken@kcl.ac.uk